At Ideal Healthcare we believe that a recruitment company should be a specialist in their field; an expert in a niche market, able to provide a tailored, professional service to clients and candidates.

Our company was formed with that philosophy at its core, and since then we have dedicated ourselves to the healthcare industry by offering a streamlined and effective service that delivers results.

We have differentiated ourselves in these distinct ways:

- By hiring experts in specific niche areas to their customers
- By supporting those experts with a strong data, trend driven research function
- By applying sound recruitment and business methodologies developed over 14 years in business
- We are able to leverage our international platform to offer clients and candidates a truly global approach to our industry
